

South Carolina High Court Will Hear Sixth Appeal Of Farmer Who Slew Five

Carolinian Who Heard Death Sentence Passed Upon Him Three Times Denies Guilt.

Columbia, S. C., October 12.—(AP) Edmund D. Bigham's long legal fight against the death penalty entered another critical phase today when his case was argued before the South Carolina supreme court.

It will mark the sixth time that the state's highest court has been engaged with some phase of the case since Bigham, a Florence county farmer, was tried and sentenced to death in the spring of 1921 for murder in connection with the slaying of five members of his own household, his mother, brother, sister and two small adopted children of the latter.

Bigham continues denial.

For more than three of the nearly five years that have elapsed since the tragedy that almost wiped out the Bigham family at the old homestead near Pamplico, Edmund Bigham has counted his days and nights in the death house at the state penitentiary, always denying with the most solemn terms that he was guilty of the crime charged.

Today the case came up on appeal from the verdict of a Horry county jury which on October 7 of last year found him guilty of the murder of his brother, L. Smiley Bigham, for whose death the state elected to try him.

The brief in the latest appeal consists of 499 printed pages of ordinary book size.

Bigham, now 40 years old and the father of two girls, has heard the death sentence passed upon him three times. Two juries, the first in Florence county and the second, under a change of venue, in Horry, have found him guilty of the murder as charged.

In each instance Bigham was sentenced to die in the electric chair at the state penitentiary but appeals prevented carrying out of the sentence. The other time he heard a judge order him to be electrocuted was after the dismissal of his appeal from his first conviction when he was returned to Florence county for reposition of sentence.

Should his protest appeal be decided adversely, a date for his execution would be automatically set under a law enacted by the state legislature about three years ago which provides that when an appeal from a death sentence is dismissed, the execution shall take place upon the third Friday following the handing down of the remittitur in the case by the supreme court. If the contentions of Bigham's attorneys should be sustained, however, he would be sent back to Horry county for a third trial.

The crime laid to the defendant occurred on January 13, 1921.

Bigham is the sole survivor of the family of State Senator Bigham, with the possible exception of Dr. Cleveland Bigham, brother of the defendant, who became a fugitive from justice nearly 10 years ago following his conviction of manslaughter in connection with the shooting to death of his wife, a bride of a few months, near Murrell's Inlet.

Mrs. Bigham and Smiley were bondsmen for Cleveland when he was released from jail pending an appeal from his conviction, and, according to testimony of witnesses at the trial in Conway, jockeying of titles to property, in efforts to evade payment of the bond, led to the situation that culminated in the Pamplico tragedies.

Large Property Holdings. The Bigham property, valued at perhaps $75,000, consisted largely of real estate. When the family began to scheme to avoid paying Dr. Cleveland's bond, the title was vested in two sisters, five-sixths in Mrs. Letha Cain and the remaining one-sixth in Mrs. Margery Black. Fate stepped in to tangle the situation when Mrs. Cain died unexpectedly of influenza at the county jail in Florence, where she lived with her husband, J. Bogan Cain, the jailer. Mrs. Cain had a son, and the property in her name consequently would descend to him unless something were done. Smiley was charged by the Florence county clerk of court with mutilating the records in the latter's office in order to destroy evidence of the transfer to Mrs. Cain.

Edmund Bigham came back from Georgia at this time to make his home with the family. His mother requested him to return, he said. In their handling of property from one to another the Bigham family had made out a number of blank deeds and signed them, and the state contended that Edmund plotted and carried out the wholesale murder of the family to get possession of these deeds.

New Anaesthetic Most Powerful Ever Discovered

St. Paul, Minn., October 12.—A new anaesthetic, which has much the same effect as a knockout punch on the jaw, but no ill after effects, has been successfully introduced in America.

Developed by Dr. Drauss, of Perthshire, Tübingen, Germany, the anaesthetic has been used extensively in Germany and Switzerland for the last two years with great success, according to Dr. Herman Dreschler, St. Paul, recently returned from a summer of surgery at Berne, Switzerland. The anaesthetic is known as nareylen, a development from purified gas.

"Nareylen does not integrate the blood as some other anaesthetics," said Dr. Dreschler. "It acts only on the brain of the patient, producing a quick sleep, from which the patient recovers quickly without any bad effects. It gives more complete relaxation than any other known anaesthetic."

It has been used in more than 60,000 cases successfully and with no fatalities. Dr. Houquervain, Doctor has used the new anaesthetic in Switzerland, and it is proving exceptionally satisfactory here. Dr. Wille Meyer, New York, has been using it with great success. So far nareylen is still in the hands of men who know how to use it, and it is more successful than nitrous oxide, ether or ethylene gas."

JAPANESE READY FOR RADIO PARLEY

Tokyo, October 12.—(AP)—Ambassador Matsudaira has been instructed by the foreign office to begin immediately conversations with Secretary of State Kellogg regarding adjustment of the Chinese wireless difficulties by which it is hoped some tentative agreement may be reached by the interested powers before the arrival of conference.

Japan's only proposal is that the entire operation of all Chinese wireless stations be turned over to the Chinese government with the property rights of the interested parties duly guaranteed.

It is understood Japan does not approve of any project for a loan floated by Chinese for the purchase of wireless rights.

The fear that propagandists may use the difficulties between the United States and Japan over wireless control to influence the customs conference has caused the Tokyo government to cable Ambassador Matsudaira to begin his conversations with Secretary Kellogg immediately in hope that all clouds may be dissipated.

It is not expected China will be ready to take over immediate control and operation of all wireless plants within its borders but Japan hopes for an agreement by which engineers of various powers may assume temporary charge of operation and ultimately hand over complete control to the Chinese government.

LIFE-TERM PRISONER ESCAPES AT SAVANNAH

Savannah, Ga., October 12.—(AP)—Peter Harris, negro, who was sentenced a year ago to life imprisonment for the killing of Policeman Hodges, today escaped from the chain gang near Savannah. Guards fired at him but the double-shanked negro escaped. Bloodhounds were placed on his trail and a picket line of policemen were thrown around a swamp in which he is supposed to be hiding. Policeman Hodges had arrested Harris and another negro. When the patrol wagon reached the call box the officer and one of the prisoners had been shot to death.

CHICAGO GUNMAN BELIEVED TO WEAR LEAD-PROOF VEST

Chicago, October 12.—(AP)—Belief that Martin J. Durkin, automobile thief and gunman, was wearing a lead-proof vest when he shot and killed Edward Shanahan, an operative for the department of justice, was expressed by police today. A bullet from Shanahan's pistol struck Durkin in the abdomen but apparently inflicted no injury. Authorities said that many gunmen lately had provided themselves with protective vests.

Durkin, who shot three policemen last December when they attempted to arrest him, fired on Shanahan last night when the operative started to question him concerning an automobile believed to have been stolen. Shanahan fell mortally wounded but gamely raised himself on one knee and fired three shots at the fleeing gunman, who escaped in the automobile.

General Motors Cars have high resale value

More than ever the public asks before buying a car: "Is it an established make? Is the organization behind it permanent? Has it intrinsic value? Will parts and service be readily available? Will it therefore have high resale value?"

Each General Motors car and truck is an established product. Each has behind it the resources of the whole General Motors organization. Each has parts, accessories and equipment made largely by General Motors and sold and serviced everywhere. Each has enjoyed the economies of large scale production and the benefits of General Motors' engineering and research.

In saying that the new series of General Motors cars represent "greatest values in automobile history" we have in mind their future "used car" value as well.

FLORISTS TO OPEN CONVENTION TODAY

Governor Clifford Walker, Mayor Walter A. Sims, Eugene R. Black, Willis A. Sutton, and many other prominent speakers are slated to deliver addresses this morning at the formal opening of the annual conference of the Florists' Telegraph Delivery association at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel. More than 1,000 delegates from the United States, Canada and England will be registered when the convention is called to order, officials announced Monday night.

The Biltmore is literally strewn with flowers and magnificent exhibits of leading dealers in all parts of the country are on display. Mercury, the messenger of the gods, is shown swooping down on a varicolored world made of sugar and bearing in his arms a beautiful bouquet of cut flowers in one of the exhibits. There are hundreds of other attractive exhibits.

Big Membership. The association numbers among its members leading flower dealers and horticulturists of the United States, Canada and England and is preparing an expansion program to include other foreign countries.

Monday afternoon the Southeastern Florists' association, allied with the association, elected John Wolf, Savannah, as president and selected Savannah, N. C., as the next convention city—the date to be named in July or August by the executive committee.

The full list of officers follows:

President, John Wolf, Savannah;

vice president, J. Leslie Whipp, Jacksonville, Fla.; secretary, William J. Goodale, Camden, S. C.; field secretary, H. E. Bates, Greensboro, N. C.; treasurer, Carl Schatzman, Macon.

Directors: John Patterson, Rosemont Gardens, Montgomery, Ala.; Norman Reasoner, Reasoner Brothers, Oneo, Fla.; E. A. Wachendorf, Wachendorf Bros., Atlanta; J. W. Beacham, Beacham Nursery, McDonough, Miss.; Otto Busck, Middlemount Gardens, Asheville, N. C.; W. E. DeLoe, Jr., Shandon Greenhouses, Columbia, S. C.; Charles Baum, Baum's Home of Flowers, Knoxville, Tenn.; U. J. Virgin, New Orleans, La.

The Southeastern Florists' association comprises the states of Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, North and South Carolina and Tennessee.

The Society of Tennessee Florists reelected L. Jack Spence, president, and selected Chattanooga as the next meeting place.

The board of directors of the association was in session Monday morning, mapping out plans, policies and transacting other business. No announcement of the results of the meeting was made because these details are submitted to the association as a whole for final action.

Rowland Lyon, president of the Atlanta Florists' and Horticulturists' club, will call the convention to order at 10 o'clock this morning, and later will turn it over to Karl E. Baum, of Knoxville, Tenn., vice president. Mr. Baum will preside until the convention adjourns for lunch, after which he will turn the meeting over to Charles H. Brown, of New York, president of the association.

Annual Reports Ready. Mr. Brown will make the president's address, which will be followed by annual reports of Albert Doehelen, of Detroit, executive secretary; William Rock, of Kansas City, Mo., treasurer; Olaf Olson, of St. Paul, chairman of the finance committee; Edward J. McCarthy, of Brooklyn, N. Y., chairman of the F. T. D. news department; Herman P. Knoble, of Cleveland, chairman of the clearing house committee; and Harold G. Perry, chairman of the nominating committee.

Election of officers is slated for Wednesday morning. This afternoon is to be taken up in a demonstration of floral work, showing how to properly handle delicate flowers in order that they may be shipped and also how to improve the salesmanship and business methods.

On Wednesday King George, of England, will be sent a special bouquet of flowers and greetings from the convention by special arrangement with the Western Union Telegraph company and officials of the association. A direct cable connecting the Atlanta Biltmore and London will be strung and the message and the flowers will be sent from the hotel lobby. The new machine, which will be used in transmitting the flowers and the message is called the automatic sifon.

DIVING NYMPHS WITH RUBIN & CHERRY WATER CIRCUS

Several of Miami's prize beauty winners, swimmers of national reputation, are in Atlanta this week. They are touring with the Water Circus and Beauty Pageant with the Rubin & Cherry Shows on the Midway at the Southeastern fair. Headed by Miss Mary Murray—no relation of the beautiful Mae of the flickering film, but a resident of Los Angeles, Cal.—they include Miss Barbara York, Miss Elsie Wainright, Miss Anna Winters, Miss Pauline Black, Miss Grace Mack, Miss Peggy Hope, Miss Gertrude Cain, Miss June Harding and Miss Elizabeth Marchand. All are record holders, and Miss Wainright aspires to swim the English channel and is training daily for the feat. A beauty pageant on the illuminated runway precedes the water carnival, the climax being a sensational 105-foot fire dive by Captain Jack Hoover, who trains the bathing beauties for the speed duels in the huge portable tank of 5,000 gallons capacity.

Prominent Speakers. Many prominent speakers from all parts of the country are slated to address the convention and Thursday will be given over to entertainment features, which will include a motorcade to Stone Mountain and an old-fashioned barbecue at Lakewood park following a visit to the exclamation at Grand park and the viewing of the grand circuit races at the Southeastern fair.

The Atlanta Florists' and Horticulturists' club and the Southeastern Florists' association are hosts of the convention, and have arranged an imposing program of other entertainment features for the convention.

About 300 delegates from Chicago arrived Monday night aboard a special train. They will register this morning.

Makers of "Frigidaire" have arranged a special display showing how ice refrigeration is supplied by the "Frigidaire" frost coil, which is electrically operated. Cordial welcome is given the association in the new display by the DeLoe Light company, of Atlanta, distributors of the product, in the Ritz Florist shop at 549 Peachtree street.

3,100 Honored Members. Approximately 3,100 honored members are included in the membership of the florists' association. Herman P. Knoble, of Cleveland, Ohio, chairman of the clearing house committee of the association, Monday stated that some idea of the magnitude and promptness of the business of the organization can be obtained from statistics which show that the clearing house during the past year handled $5,000,000 with very few complaints and few adjustments to be made. He stated further that the organization planned to extend its scope to include a world organization, 250 members of the association will go to London, England, in 1927 to perfect the organization.

This is the first time the association has met in any city outside of the larger centers of the east and middle west.

The deposed bishop also declared that his orders as an old Catholic bishop are unchallengeable.

History of His Case. Bishop Brown's difficulties with his church date from a period shortly after the publication of his book, "Common Sense and Christianity." He was charged with "holding and teaching publicly and advisedly doctrines contrary to that held by the Protestant Episcopal church in the United States of America."

He was first convicted May 31, 1924, and the verdict affirmed by a court of review January 15, 1925. Last Thursday, the house of bishops, by a vote of 95 to 11, more than the required two-thirds majority, approved the finding of the court of review.

NOMINATIONS TODAY FOR PRESIDING BISHOP.

(By the Associated Press.)—Nominations for presiding bishop tomorrow afternoon, followed by election Wednesday morning, was the program outlined for the house of bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church, in general conference here today. The plan to be followed, unless upset by action of the house, will have nominations made at the first session tomorrow afternoon. The election will be held in St. Paul's church.

Seek to Increase Salary. The presiding bishop, who is to be elected this week, also will be president of the council. The house of deputies today announced a resolution from the house of bishops, fixing the presiding bishop's salary at $15,000, to read $18,000. The sum of $5,000 is provided for during expiring term of the house of bishops must concur in the amendment to make it effective.

Legislation is pending in both houses to provide for a successor to the presiding bishop should he resign, die or become incapacitated while in office. The house of deputies has proposed that the vice president of the national council shall succeed, while it has been suggested in the house of bishops that the successor shall be the permanent chairman of the house of bishops.

The Rev. H. H. Powell, D. D. of San Francisco, of the committee on amendments to the constitution, reported a recommendation against adoption of an amendment which would make women eligible for election to the general conference. The report went on the calendar and the vote was postponed until it is reached in the regular order of business.

SUPREME COURT DISMISSES CASE INVOLVING SLAVERY

Washington, October 12.—(P)—The supreme court today dismissed for want of jurisdiction a case which raised the question whether children of former slaves, whose parents did not live together as man and wife at the time or after emancipation, are capable of inheriting property as blood heirs brought from Oklahoma by Prince Tyner against Henry Buffington and others. When Frank McDade, Jr., died near Muskogee, Okla., leaving an estate, Prince Tyner claimed it as next of kin, contending that he had been recognized for 60 years as the son of the deceased. The state courts of Oklahoma awarded the property to Buffington and others on the ground that Prince Tyner's parents, who had been slaves, were not living together as man and wife at the time of emancipation, and had not so lived afterwards and that the offspring of such a union were not heirs at law.

The courts held that persons in slavery were incapable of contracting

Now they've discovered

Cloudy teeth are not naturally "off color"—simply dulled with a dingy film that hides them and invites decay and gum troubles

Now restore your teeth to dazzling whiteness, your gums to healthy firmness this remarkable new way that dental authorities urge... send coupon for 10-day test... note the amazing difference in your teeth

BELIEVING your teeth are naturally dull is a great mistake. Science has proved otherwise. Permitting your teeth to be other than clear and beautiful is an injustice to yourself.

Largely on dental advice, millions are now multiplying the beauty of their smiles. New methods of tooth cleaning and gum care have been found. In a few days you can work wonders with your teeth. Can give them whiteness and clearness that amaze. But not with ordinary brushing. Just send the coupon and a 10-day supply of the correct way will be sent.

It's film that hides pretty teeth and imperils gums
Dental science now traces scores of tooth and gum troubles to a germ-laden film that forms on your teeth. Run your tongue across your teeth and you will feel it... a slippery, viscous coating. That film absorbs discolorations from food, smoking, etc. And that is why your teeth look "off color" and dingy.

FILM the worst enemy to teeth
You can feel it with your tongue

It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It lays your gums open to bacterial attack and your teeth open to decay. Germs by the millions breed in it. And they, with tartar, are a chief cause of pyorrhea.

Mere brushing won't do
Ordinary dentifrices and cleaning won't fight film successfully. Feel for it now with your tongue. Note how your present cleansing method is failing in its duty.

Now new methods are being used. A dentifrice called Pepsodent—different in formula, action and effect from any other known. Largely on dental advice the world has turned to this method.

It removes that film, and Firms the Gums
It accomplishes two important things at once. Removes that film, then firms the gums. A few days' use will prove its power beyond all doubt. Send the coupon. Clip it now before you forget.

WAIT PATIENTLY.—Wait on the Lord; he is of good courage, and he shall strengthen thine heart; wait, I say, on the Lord. Psalm 27:14.

PRAYER.—O Thou Who art never weary, we wait on Thee. Do Thou renew our strength that we may fly like the eagle, and even walk and not faint.

A GREAT VICTORY.

It was not unexpected that Atlanta went over the top so magnificently in the "Forward Atlanta" campaign. That it oversubscribed the required $250,000 advertising fund, and did it with a fire of enthusiasm that was characteristic of the old "Atlanta spirit" that long since became proverbial throughout the nation, was anticipated.

There could have been no other result under the leadership of such intrepid figures as W. R. C. Smith, William Candler, Ivan Allen and George West.

It was a conception of "Dick" Smith, not only as a citizen of wide vision who saw the opportunity and gripped it, but as president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, charged with a great and grave responsibility in civic and economic leadership. His plan met with the favor of his associates in the organization. They caught the enthusiasm of their chairman. The time was opportune, the moon and the stars were right, the conditions demanded such a move—and especially such a test of the loyalty of Atlantans to the call of their city's progress.

The next step was the selection of a general chairman to head the campaign. Many names were canvassed. All agreed that the young and virile and dauntless William Candler should head the movement. He is a busy man with large private interests, but the interests of his home city stood first. He agreed.

The success of the undertaking was assured from that moment for he marshaled his forces like a general on the field of battle. He fired them with the fighting spirit of old. He threw every ounce of his indomitable will and courage and capacity behind the undertaking, and his lieutenants rallied to his leadership with the valor of trained soldiers. In four days the battle had been won—won to the glory of Atlanta. Too much commendation cannot be given the workers in this great victory.

It has inspired Atlantans with a new love and a new confidence in their city.

It has strengthened the ties of civic cooperation and coordination. It has impressed anew Atlanta's greatness.

It has reconsecrated Atlantans to Atlanta. It was a movement for a good cause. Other great civic movements, the Shrine mosque and the community chest, will now find their paths easier to travel. The way has been cleared and much rubbish has been thrown upon the trash heaps.

THE GOLDEN TORNADO.

The gridiron that stretched out in front of the great grandstand in Yankee stadium in New York was lashed by an Arctic gale on Saturday.

But it faded before the Golden Tornado of the Georgia Tech.

The great football machine of the south that took the Nittany Lions by storm fought to a standstill.

The old Pennsylvania State's proverbial confidence, built upon a long record of triumphs, gave away in the second half to an attack that was incomparable.

Doug Wycoff led his team to a beautiful victory, while "Little Red," with intrepid Barron skill, shared also in the honors.

The Pennsylvanians played well and clean. They were outmarched, and today it is doubtful if there is a more formidable machine in America's intercollegiate organization than the Yellow Jackets of Georgia's great technological institution.

We are proud of them. They are an asset to Atlanta that is of almost priceless value. And with it all they are a group of manly young men, full of the spirit of the south, the ardor of youth and the traditions of their institution.

All honor to the Georgia Tech for the great victory it brought home from New York.

"DIXIE" MOTORCADE.

The Dixie highway motorcade, from Saint Marie to Miami, will move upon Atlanta Wednesday.

It is a gay procession of automobiles, with flags flying, and music echoing through the Tennessee hills today, as it moves over perfect roads.

They will not be so perfect when the Tennessee-Georgia line is crossed. But we are living in hope and amenable to good promises. This motorcade will accentuate the necessity for connecting up the Georgia links, and perhaps in another year this may be done. Certain it is, it is unthinkable that Georgia shall long remain the only state along the great system that extends across a continent and deep into its southern peninsula, that shall break the chain of hard-surfaced highways.

Something of what this great thoroughfare means to the mountain south was recently told by J. Stacy Hill in the following paragraph:

"The Dixie highway passes over what, only a few years ago, were mere trails through the woods and underbrush. Imagine a country where a physician had to travel 175 miles by rail around the base of a mountain to attend a patient only 13 miles from his home as the crow flies. Yet those 13 miles were practically impassable, and it would have taken longer to struggle over the mountain top than to travel around by train, a slow one at that."

In the remarkable tourist movement to the south, especially to Florida, more automobiles, filled to their capacity, pass over the Dixie highway perhaps than over all other trunk highways reaching Florida combined. The reason is simple. The larger number of touring motorists come out of the middle west and the Dixie highway, at present at any rate, is the most direct route. And yet it is not the only route by any means for getting to Florida from these sections. Entry into that state by way of Birmingham and Pensacola will leave Georgia out entirely. This fact ought to stimulate interest in the completion of the Georgia links, and in fact all of the interstate roads through Georgia.

Mr. Hill has said further: "In the educational and sociological advantages which the Dixie highway will bring to communities of this sort it will more than justify the millions of dollars which have gone into its construction."

This is true. It is true of any great highway system, for good roads develop the social and educational and spiritual interests of communities along with their economic interests.

Atlanta will give a cordial welcome to the Dixie highway motorcade, and Georgia will promise it a better system through the state when it passes through again.

THE KNOXVILLE SENTINEL.

The Knoxville (Tenn.) Sentinel published on October 8 a "prosperity and progress edition," 96 pages, in newspaper magazine form—artistic and attractive in typography and unique and distinctive in southern journalism.

It was dedicated to the further development of Knoxville and east Tennessee.

It was replete with information attractively told, about the resources of the Knoxville section, and included mention, with illustrations, of many of the towns of east Tennessee.

Recognition of the personnel of leadership in all constructive lines made a most attractive feature.

Pictorially the edition surpassed in excellence, and on the whole it was a comprehensive, graphic review, book of the progress of a great section of a great state.

Frequently, while counting our troubles, we can't hear Happiness knocking at the door.

Another French loan is likely to find only "frozen capital" in Wall street.

The American legionnaires should "keep cool" while Commander "Cal" is among them.

In Atlanta this week let the Pullman porter's slogan prevail—"A dollar a head all around!"

The wets are putting prohibition on the defensive, but possession is nine points up in the game.

A shortage of bagging is reported. Probably absorbed in the "Oxford bags" of the students and sheiks.

The autumn "Pay-Up Campaign" of The Tifton (Ga.) Gazette is working wonders in the home-prosperity line.

The growler hasn't a reasonable excuse to offer, for in summer it's "hot as hades," and in winter it's as "cold" as the same place.

Just From Georgia

Farewell to the Dolls.

My little daughter packed away her dolls, for she is twelve today. The Paris walking doll, her pride of yesterday, she placed beside her poor, shapely Raggedy Last of her line. She put away her baby-doll; then tied a bow on Teddy's ear. And made him guard them through the year. I turned to hide my tears, for I was bidding my 'dive doll' goodbye!—LIDA WILSON TURNER, Atlanta.

Perfectly Simple.

The Engineer Magazine points out that it's always best to use simple language when you take your pen in hand to write, and proves it as follows: "Varying: In promulgating your esoteric cogitations or in articulating superficial sentimentalities and philosophical or psychological observations, beware of platitudinous verbosity. Let your conversation possess clarified conciseness, compacted comprehensiveness, consistent consistency and coagulated cogency. Exclude all inconsequential flatulent gurgility, jejune babblement and asinine affectations. Let your extemporaneous declamations and unpremeditated explanations have intelligent without rhodomontade or theatrical bombast. Sedulously avoid polysyllabic profundity, pompous prolixity and ventriloquial verbiage. Shun double entendres and prudent jocosity, whether obscure or apparent."

Old Man Winter.

I. Sent a word along: "Ain't a singing sound? I can make me a song!" Summer's days were dreamy. Where restful shadows creep, But mine are set to storm-winds. "That wake the world from sleep."

Old Man Winter.

II. Tells you, "Now's your chance! The storm-wind plays a fiddle For all the world to dance, Hale time and hearty Where winds sing loud and deep, I set the days to music And wake the world from sleep."

When the Table's Full.

"Now that winter is coming on, the literary suppers that were such enjoyable occasions will be resoundingly abandoned. But let it be understood that time will be called on those who insist on reading their poems, or on telling what to do with the front line. With the prospect of so much good eating ahead, it's our opinion American literature should take care of itself."

The Recompense.

I. I wandered by the wayside in the morn, When all the birds sang to the youthful day, And as I sought my work, I flung the corn In careless handfuls as I hied away.

II. I heaved my shoulders 'gainst the plow at noon, And turned the fallows with the laboring share. The hours perceived me tolling late and soon, Drenched in the rain or hot in solar glare.

III. The even found me weary, sick at heart; My grave was cumbered with mill-dew and rust; My back was bent, tears in mine eyes did start; I flung my useless sickle in the dust.

IV. With weary feet the olden way I trod, And lo! where I found a grain did grow.

By youth's first impulse moved toward me, A golden harvest gleamed in sunset glow!—MYRTA LOCKETT AVARY.

Talking It Over.

There is a philosopher who has a deplorable lack of a "talker" and here is his latest utterance: "Everyone has read that King Solomon had a thousand wives. And the queen of Sheba was the king's favorite. She had brains and wit and his ability she once dressed a thousand boys and girls alike and told the king to pick them out, the boys from the girls. He said: 'I will make it as if I do not let them go to make it, while the old man feels his way. Ever notice it?'"

The Griffin News observes that "in Afghanistan, kids of five years marry; while in America, married couples often act that age."

Writes of Extra Session

Editor Constitution: If an extra session of the legislature is necessary for the purpose of enacting a law which the members can't be obtained to pay our old soldiers what the state is due them, I am in favor of it. Otherwise, I am not.

Years ago those men left their homes and spent four long years of the best part of their lives on the bleak, frozen fields of battle, their duty to their country. For this service, this state promises to pay them a very small pension. According to my way of seeing, the state should make good this promise. The members of this legislature, including myself, during our campaign for election, promised that this money would be forthcoming. Inasmuch as we blundered during the regular session in passing this law, I feel it our duty to return and do our work.

Many of these men depend entirely upon that money for a living. Year by year their ranks are thinning. When one takes his consideration that it will be two years before the legislature meets again, and many of them by this time will have passed away, it becomes more imperative that an extra session should be called. I, for one, wish to help make their last days as comfortable as possible. My father spent four years on the battlefields of Virginia, and long ago passed through the "valley of the shadow." Not one of my relatives, so far as I know, are drawing a pension. Do you know I have no personal gain, except the ease of conscience and the feeling that comes to me after having done my duty.

If the state of Georgia feels that it is unable to honor its promise, I am willing to pay my own share. Furthermore, I am willing to make a mortgage on the governor's mansion, the furniture therein, and on any old bonds or securities owned by the governor, rather than have these old men face the coming winter in their present condition.

LIGHTS OF NEW YORK

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

The invasion of foreign writers and playwrights such as Coward, Arlen, Croisset, who appear at the theater and afterwards regularly in top hat and muffer has had its effect on the imaginative native mind. And the habit is indeed worthy of emulation. Now a visit of a few of the stove-piped journalists, whom one encounters on Fleet street in London and the Rue Tivoli in Paris and every old copy-reader on Park Row will have to do a monic, swagger stick and silk shiner.

The student of zoology and ornithology ought to feel delighted by the animal titles on the Broadway list. These days. The offerings include: "The Gorilla," "The Pelican," "Pigs," "Dutch Canary" and two versions of wolves, "Tale of the Wolf," at the Empire, and "Wolves" at the Nora Bayes. There then is of course "Abie's Irish Rose," going full blast like a vampire spider drawing thousands in its net.

The most surprising individual in New York to me is the professional gangster or gunman. There is nothing of the flowering, slouch-capped, scowling old-time bandit about him. He is often a youngster, extremely well-dressed, hair pomaded a la Valentino, with a few things on his fingers and a nonchalant air, mixture of stoicism and indifference. Three of the gentlemen caught by the police in the act of showing a murdered victim in a taxicab were brought in at the police station when I was there. The crowd at the door actually murmured respectfully and deferentially while they were led inside. Later in the station, while waiting examination, the trio were engaged in conversation by reporters. Jokes were told.

Fashions Note.

Garters will follow the course of nature during the coming cold season. That is to say the animals will don their fur coats. Garters, therefore, will be fabricated out of beaver, marten, fox or weasel skin. I don't say just what I please. (Copyright, 1925, for The Constitution.)

Tanks.

Captain Liddell Hart, British expert of strategy, believes that the army of the future will depend more and more on armored tanks, which are to penetrate the enemy's front ranks, and which will be the most important element in the future of the army.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

ASTHMATIC WHEEZES.

A young business woman went to a country inn for her vacation. Several dogs had the run of the house. Within 48 hours the young woman was so ill of asthma that it was necessary to take her home to her physician. In the city she quickly recovered. Her physician saw no reason why she should not return to the country for her vacation. She went back to the inn. Everybody welcomed her, including the dogs. Within a few days the asthma returned. Again she was carried home, this time to remain in bed a month. After that she was able to visit another resort. In a country where she regained her usual good health. There were no dogs in this second country place. No one thought of that at the time, however.

Months later this business woman built herself a country home near the ocean, and there she thrived, though she occasionally got off a few wheezes. One or two such occasions and sister wondered whether a dog could have anything to do with it, for she had noticed that the wheezing usually occurred when a neighbor's dog had visited the cottage.

This theory of sister's set every body thinking, and then it was recalled that every member of asthmatic seizure had occurred soon after association with a dog. This was considered as of academic interest only. Months later the family stopped at a roadside for dinner. There the luckless woman had a moderate attack of the old asthma. One of the party remarked that if she did not prove better she would assume there was a dog on the premises. There was apparently no dog—until a party arose from a nearby table and left the room. The dog followed him. He had been lying quietly under the table. The plot thickens and the story ends here.

In a few cases of spasmodic or bronchial asthma are caused by emanations (dander) from dogs, cats, fowls, parrots, canaries, mice, horses, and other animals whose emanations (dander) are in the air. These emanations seem to become "sensitized" to the particular protein of some such emanation. When they are inhaled, a characteristic reaction whenever they inhale the emanation in question. This action does not always amount to an asthmatic seizure, sometimes it expresses itself in an attack of hives with little or no disturbance of breathing. Hay fever is an identical reaction, in character, though the exciting cause is of vegetable rather than animal origin, a pollen to which the victim is sensitized.

A medical man who had suffered from asthma since childhood, once relied only after it dawned on him that his footsteps had been dogged during all his worst attacks at home or in far away health resorts. He had some folks call him a faithful friend of man, that dumb, very dumb indeed as compared with the intelligent feline, unreasoning animal which has any hand that feels him and bites a finger from the hand of his tender hearted mistress when she tries to rescue him from a perilous situation into which he has rushed like a dunderhead.

All that wheezes is not asthma. Many cases purporting to be asthma are in reality not of this character at all, but merely disturbances of the throat associated with very different diseases which it seems of no use to the layman even to mention in a discussion of asthma.

Atlanta's Regiment

Laying Fall Plans

For Armory Drill

LECTURER TO APPEAR AT SHORTER COLLEGE

Indoor drill plans for the coming fall and winter were main features of Monday night's regular drill period of the 123rd infantry at the Auditorium-Armory. Colonel Charles H. Cox, regimental commander, and Lieutenant Colonel Eugene Oberdorfer, executive officer, emphasizing phases of training for the winter months when troops necessarily will be confined to the armory, proper.

In a brief officers' meeting just before the drill period got under way, matters relating particularly to rifle work on the range at Fort McPherson and advanced drill work were brought to the attention of company and detachment commanders.

Taft hall and the auditorium, proper, were the scenes of the first program on the incoming year's schedule. Companies were divided in many instances and new men in the regiment were given particular attention by non-commissioned officers. Resumption of monthly regimental drill in the armory was discussed and it was the consensus of opinion that these features would occupy a prominent place on the plans for this fall and winter.

Officers were urged by the regimental commander to attend the regular weekly luncheons at the Ansley hotel on Wednesday of each week.

BROWN MADE HEAD OF CHIROPRACTIC EXAMINERS' BOARD

Dr. W. E. Brown, of Newnan, was elected president of the Georgia board of chiropractic examiners at the semi-annual meeting in Atlanta Monday.

Sessions will conclude today with a class of seven taking the board examination in the senate chamber at the state capitol.

Other officers are: Dr. A. B. Smellie, of Atlanta, vice president, and Dr. M. E. Hall, of Columbus, secretary and treasurer. Other members of the board are Dr. Clay L. Dean, of Moultrie, and Dr. J. D. Rust, of Macon.

WEEVIL ACTIVE

DESPITE DROUTH, STATES MANESS

Boll weevil infested cotton fields are to be found wherever rains have fallen lately in northwest Georgia. J. C. Maness, field agent of the state board of entomology, announced Monday in commenting upon weevil conditions over the drouth-affected area.

In all low places where the cotton is green, the weevil was found in increasing numbers, thus affording heavy hibernation, meaning that the weevil is not exterminated in Georgia in spite of the long dry spell, he said.

Maness said that he made this statement as a warning to cotton growers, fearing that they would believe that the severe drouth has eliminated the weevil and would make plans for planting large cotton crops in 1926 under this mistaken impression.

EPIWORTH LEAGUES

MEET HERE TONIGHT

TWELFTH ANNUAL DOG SHOW OPENS TODAY

Dr. Charles R. Stuart, pastor of the First Methodist church, of Birmingham, Ala., will be principal speaker of the meeting of the Atlanta Epworth league union tonight when more than 3,000 members from Atlanta and surrounding communities are expected to gather at the Wesley Memorial church.

The program will begin at 7:30 o'clock and besides the address by Dr. Stuart a pageant, "The Light of the World," will be given. Included in the cast are seven young women and four men, and this is expected to be an unusual feature of the meeting of leaguers here.

The address by Dr. Stuart is expected to be of wide interest. His subject will be "Life Service." A consecration service will close the service.

EASTON CONCERT

SEATS CONTINUE ON SALE TODAY

Sale of tickets to the public concert to be given tonight at the Atlanta auditorium by Florence Easton, Metropolitan Opera company soprano, will continue throughout today, officials of the Fine Arts club announced Monday. The sale is at Phillips & Crew company.

Miss Easton has appeared in Atlanta a number of times with the Metropolitan Opera company and is well known and very popular here. Miss Easton appeared in the title role of "La Juive" last spring when Rosa Ponselle's illness prevented her from singing the role. Miss Easton also appeared in the role of "Tosca" on Saturday night of the last season in Atlanta.

Sentence Determined

By Novel Procedure In Prohibition Cases

R. D. Grant, white, charged with violation of the prohibition law, was found guilty Monday by a jury. Judge G. H. Howard's division of Fulton superior court was fined $200 and sentenced to serve 12 months on the gring, the sentence to be suspended upon payment of the fine.

Grant was arrested on May 20 by Federal Officers Lon Adair and Joe Goode when he was caught with three gallons of whiskey in the automobile in which he was riding, officers stated.

When the jury returned the verdict of guilty Judge Howard asked them to ballot as to whether Grant be given a fine or a sentence on the gring. Slips of paper were passed the 12 jurors and following the count, it was voted 11 to 1 to give a fine of $200. This was a very unusual occurrence in Fulton superior court, it is said.

Mammie Banks, negro, of 138 West Mitchell street entered a plea of guilty Monday to two cases charging violation of the prohibition law, and was fined $300 on each case and given a suspended sentence of 12 months.

It is alleged that the defendant's liquor were found in the residence at 138 West Mitchell street by Federal Officers Frank Crow, Lon Adair, Joe Goode, and Deputy Sheriff Joe Schilling, on April 29. She was arrested on September 29 by the same officers on a charge of violating the prohibition law when 29 gallons of liquor were found in the residence, it was said. Assistant Solicitor John H. Hudson, prosecuted the case for the state.

LECTURER TO APPEAR AT SHORTER COLLEGE

Constitution Bureau.

Rome, Ga., October 12.—(Special.) Outstanding among literary events of the year at Shorter college and Rome will be the lecture on Thursday night, October 15, by John Cooper Powys, brilliant English novelist, poet and essayist, who has been one of the great lecturers of the world. Mr. Powys will give his famous lecture, "Psychology at 10:30 o'clock he will speak on "The Art of Self-Culture."

Floyd Fair Closes.

The Floyd county fair passed into history with the closing of the gates Saturday night and Memorial park, the recreation center of Shanks-Ark, away from American Legion, stand with another big community gathering to its credit.

Since acquiring the park from the Floyd county Press association, the legionnaires have started systematically changing it into an all-year recreation ground and tourist camp. Throughout the past week the program of entertainment carried on was wholesome and interesting.

The program on closing day was featured by a meeting of the farmers of seven counties who were addressed by some very eminent agricultural authorities and bankers. The closing fireworks program of the week was given in front of the grandstand after the free acts had been presented and the Lindale band had played its last concert of the week.

Donald MacMillan and Party Of Arctic Explorers Are Given Enthusiastic Welcome Home

All Credit and Praise for Expedition Given To Crew — Recalls Great Hazards of Expedition.

Portland, Maine, October 12.—(AP)—Commander Donald B. MacMillan and the 38 members of his Arctic expedition, scientists, aviators and seamen, were welcomed home today by a program of enthusiasm and reception which extended from Wisconsin to this city.

Given more than usual disappointment by the worst weather the natives remember in the north at this season, beset and delayed along the entire homeward route by gales which culminated in that which kept not only the expedition but nearly 50 friends and relatives marooned on the small wind-swept Monhegan Island, the attitude of all was expressed by Commander MacMillan when he said at a luncheon given him here, "This room looks good to us."

Last Day Was Long. This last day of the expedition was a long one. The crew were astir on the ships before 4 o'clock this morning, preparing for the run for the mainland which the expected break in the gale would permit.

From the 20 or more homes on Monhegan where they had found shelter, the band of relatives, friends and newspapermen gathered in the intense darkness preceding the dawn about the wind-swept dock where the Peary lay. Shortly after 5 o'clock the expedition got under way.

The culmination of the rejoicing at their safe arrival was reached at the luncheon tendered Commander MacMillan by the Portland Rotary club. To reach it the program at Wisconsin was cut to a brief interchange of greetings and followed by a dash in a motor cavalcade with the road cleared and the Woolwich-Bath ferry held up for the party.

Given Great Welcome. It was at this luncheon that the leaders of the state, of the army and navy, of science and of education, gathered to congratulate the explorer on his safe return and the accomplishments of the summer.

Commander MacMillan, in return, thanked them for their reception and that his men, then proceeded to extol the work of his companions with scarcely a passing reference to indicate that he had had connection with this first attempt by American flyers to discover that unknown area of the polar sea.

"The best crew I ever had," for the men who sailed the Bowdoin; "a fine body of men, in a way to blame for the failure of their effort," for the United States navy aviators, commendations for the scientists of the National Geographic Society, "one of whom in a few weeks at Etah accomplished more than my other men had accomplished in years," were the tributes paid by Commander MacMillan.

Stressed Great Hazards. He stressed again the extreme hazard of flight of heavier-than-air planes above the Arctic circle, reiterated his conviction that the amphibian type of plane carried the best suited for the undertaking, and that the dirigible is the only feasible method of air exploration.

"For the plane there remains," he said, "much work in the interior of Baffin Land, discovered more than 400 years ago but which is still unknown through most of its 600 miles length and 300 miles in breadth. There are also thousands of unexplored lakes in the interior of Labrador where an airplane may work."

"The men of the navy personnel worked night and day on the arrival of the expedition at Etah. The result was that all three planes were in the air in three days. On August 21 there was one fine day and five days preceding. There was but one conclusion, which I knew and which the men knew, although they did not admit it at the time. It was absolutely useless to continue, and further, had any accident happened and a plane been lost either the Peary or the Bowdoin must have wintered in the far north to attempt the rescue of the men in the spring."

Long List of Speakers. The welcome to the explorers was extended by a long list of speakers who preceded MacMillan. Among them were Rear Admiral Douglas E. Dismukes, commandant of the Portsmouth naval yard; Colonel John W. Wright, commandant of the Peabody Coast Guard; Frank Stewart, George L. Keay, Congressman Carroll L. Beedy, Dr. J. Howard Gore, trustee of the National Geographic Society; Dean Paul Nixon, of Bowdoin college, and Governor Ralph O. Brewster.

Commander MacMillan announced tonight that the Peary would sail tomorrow for Boston, where their equipment will be removed. She will then return to Southport, where she will lie for the winter across the dock from the usual winter haven of the Bowdoin.

Maby and Wright Trial Is Expected To Reach Jury Some Time Tuesday

Decatur, Ga., October 12.—(Special.)—The state is expected to reach early Tuesday in the trial here of J. L. Maby and D. M. Wright, charged with an assault upon N. J. Cash, near Brookhaven on the night of December 13, 1924.

The testimony of the plaintiff was the principal evidence given at Monday's hearing, after a jury was drawn. Cash testified that one week before the alleged attack a body of men appeared at the house where he was staying and warned him to "leave the community," and that upon failure to comply with their request, he was visited again a week later by a band of men, whose appearance in the house was repelled by a woman member of the household, who fired into the band. Warrants charging the defendants with the attack followed that raid, in which he was shot through the shoulder, Cash testified.

The defendants will contend they were not near Brookhaven that night, it is said.

The case, which is expected to go to the jury late Tuesday, is being tried before Judge John B. Hutcheson, of DeKalb superior court.

With Waldraven Company

J. H. FRANKLIN.

J. H. Franklin and J. A. Cole, two of the best-known hardware men in this part of the south, Monday were receiving congratulations on the fact that they have assumed their duties as executives with the Waldraven company, 36-38 W. Alabama street, one of the largest machinery and mill supply houses in the south. First publication of the fact was made in Sunday's Constitution.

Mr. Franklin has served for more than 30 years in the hardware business with some of the leading firms in the south. Mr. Cole has been in the hardware business for more than 20 years and both are thoroughly familiar with the machinery and building supply lines. Both will hold important posts with the Waldraven company.

Recently the Waldraven company obtained the agency of the P. and F. Corbin builders' hardware line. The Waldraven company was organized in 1916 and has a business which reaches all parts of the southern states.

CONFEDERATE HOSTS 'TAKE' ALBANY TODAY

Albany, Ga., October 12.—(Special.) All is in readiness here for the coming Tuesday of the host of Confederate veterans from all over Georgia for the formal opening Wednesday of the 33rd state reunion. All trains Tuesday are expected to bring veterans, who will be entertained by Albany.

A continuous round of pleasure is in store for the heroes of the 60's who are fortunate to attend the reunion, as Albany has made great preparations for their entertainment, realizing that it may be the last time the state vets will meet here, on account of the fast depletion ranks.

An informal reception and open-air concert for the veterans will be held on the ground of the city auditorium Tuesday night, October 13, and the business meetings and festive occasions will begin Wednesday morning. General D. B. Morgan, state commander, will be in charge of the meeting, and there will be several addresses of welcome and responses, interspersed with vocal instrumental music. There will also be an address by General W. B. Freeman, commander-in-chief of the V. F. W., after which the meeting will adjourn for dinner.

During the afternoon session commanders of the various state brigades will speak, and after routine business has been taken for an automobile tour of the city and county. At 8 o'clock in the evening there will be a grand march on the main street, led by national and state commanders and ladies.

On Thursday officers will be elected and the next meeting place selected. In the afternoon will come the grand parade. Luncheon for the sons and daughters of the veterans and other visitors will be held each night of the reunion.

MACON COUNTY PLANS TO PAVE DIXIE ROAD

Montezuma, Ga., October 12.—(Special.)—At a raising meeting of the Kiwanis club Thursday discussed the paving of the Dixie highway through Macon county, a project which it is hoped will soon be under way. Representatives from the Kiwanis club, led by national and state commanders and ladies.

With the completion of the paving project through Macon county, Macon county will have a continuous line of paving on the Dixie highway from Cartersville to the Florida line, and it is believed that this road will greatly enhance property values and otherwise prove beneficial to this section.

The club voted unanimously to enter a float in the parade of the Peach county fair to be held soon in Albany in connection with the state Kiwanis convention.

To the Holders of Bonds of

The Republic of France

5% Redeemable National Loan of 1920.

A Ready Market

Through the cotton exchanges and their efficient cotton futures system, an immediate market for cotton is maintained; and growers, as well as users, can anticipate future values and make their contracts accordingly.

When buying or selling in large quantities, at a fixed price—it is recognized that the conservative thing to do is to place (at the same time) a "hedge" through one of the future markets.

Special attention given to "hedgers," "straddlers," "switches" and "New York-New Orleans arbitrage."

CORONER TO PROBE FLEMING KILLING

An inquest to determine how L. O. Fleming, of Atlanta, met his death Monday morning in a hotel on Decatur street, has been ordered for today. Fleming was found in his bed at the hotel with a bullet wound near his heart. Police say that he has several relatives at Stone Mountain.

Will Gaddy, clerk at the hotel, stated that Fleming registered Sunday night and left a call for 4 o'clock Monday morning. He said he went to the room at that time and called Fleming, and that the latter answered, saying he already was awake. A few minutes later, Gaddy said he heard a shot, but that since it sounded as if it was on the street he did not investigate. At 6 o'clock Fleming had not come down, according to Gaddy's story, and he went to the room and found him dead with a 38 caliber pistol by his side.

Atlanta Live Stock Dealers Are Losers In Freight Rate Suit

Washington, October 12.—(AP)—A number of horse and mule dealers of Atlanta, Ga., lost in the supreme court today in a suit brought by J. W. Patterson, Commission company, against the Louisville and Nashville Railroad company and others to recover freight charges alleged to have been excessive.

It was charged in the suit that rates from the Ohio river and north and from the Mississippi and west to Atlanta were unlawfully from about 1917 to 1920, according to Edgar Watkins, attorney for the Atlanta dealers. The case had been pending for about four years and was carried to the supreme court after the interstate commerce commission decided that the rates were unlawful, but not too high, he said.

According to Mr. Watkins, the court decided that, although the rates were unlawful, they were not excessive. The suit was first instituted in the federal district court of Georgia and was lost on a demurrer. It was taken to the supreme court after the fifth circuit court of appeals had upheld the lower court's decision. The railroad was represented by F. J. Proctor, of Louisville, Ky., and John Haverty, of Washington, D. C., Mr. Watkins said.

M. & G. ROAD ALLOWED TO BUILD NEW LINE

Washington, October 12.—(AP)—The Mobile and Gulf Railroad company was authorized today by the interstate commerce commission to construct and operate 32 miles of railroad between Fayette and Buil, both in Alabama. A part of the line, which it is proposed to utilize, is now operating as a lumber railroad and the Mobile and Gulf company proposes to issue $300,000 in new common stock for the purpose of equipping and completing the system.

High Lights in Cotton Market

BY THEO. H. PRICE
Editor Commerce and Finance

New York, October 12.—There is a story of a physician who always threw his patients into fits because they were the only disorder he could cure.

His policy seems to be that of the crop reporting board, for all but one of its estimates this season have thrown the cotton trade into convulsions. There are four more of these estimates to come. The last one will be issued on December 8, and until it is announced we may expect a fortnightly recurrence of the hysteria that manifested itself last Thursday.

But for this latest estimate it must at least be said that it comes nearer to being in accord with the facts than any of the guesses published earlier in the season. For it is difficult to see how the crop can be less than 15,000,000 bales when the spinning returns are carefully studied. They show a total of 7,102,000 bales ginned up to October 1, and they also show that 2,820,000 bales were ginned during the period commencing with September 15 and ending with September 30.

This is at the rate of 217,000 bales per working day for the 13 working days included in that period. The heaviest ginning per working day previously reported was in 1914, when an average of 211,000 bales per working day were ginned between September 15 and October 15.

The crop of that year turned out to be 16,135,000 bales, which is the largest yield ever produced, and candor in the admission that there seems to be some analogy between that season and the present. Then, as now, it was claimed that the drought had done serious injury, that the crop was picked and ginned with unprecedented rapidity and that it would be marketed earlier than ever before. But the record shows that the 7,020,000 bales that had been ginned up to the 15th of October, was but 47.5 per cent of the yield and that 8,515,000 passed through the gins before the 15th of October.

All things do not prove anything, for it may be that the present crop is the earliest on record, but the same thing has been said of many previous crops and it is hard for a statistician who knows anything of hydraulics to believe that a stream of 217,000 bales a day can be flowing from a reservoir that is approaching exhaustion. It is also hard to ignore the apparent disappearance of the boll weevil or the large acreage said to have been planted this season. It was probably overestimated, but that it is larger than last year no one can deny, and in at least 60 per cent of the planted area an unusually good yield is reported.

These are the considerations which suggest circumspection in assuming that a crop of even 16,000,000 bales is impossible. Such a yield may not be realized, but unless there is an early falling off in the per diem ginning those who believe in less will be on the defensive.

But the effect of a crop of 16,000,000 bales upon prices is another question. Exports for the season thus far are 25 per cent in excess of last year. This rate of increase, if it continues, would mean that more than 10,000,000 bales out of this year's crop will be shipped abroad. Lower prices will probably augment the foreign demand, and a domestic consumption of at least 6,000,000 bales seems almost certain.

This allocation disposes of 16,000,000 bales without providing for any increase in the merger stocks that spinners held at the beginning of the season. For this reason a crop of 16,000,000 bales should not work any great decline in prices if its possibility is admitted and prepared for with deliberation and calculation.

The harm caused by the semi-monthly estimates that have called forth so much protest is that they have aspired to an accuracy that is impossible. Error, which is always costly and demoralizing, has therefore been unavoidable.

This season's experience has made it clear that the crop cannot be approximated before October 1, nor closely estimated before December 1. When the trade and the government come to realize this, everyone will be better off, and fewer lead pencils will be used up making futile guesses and preparing the guesses that are misallated estimates.

RUBBER PRICES DROP ON LONDON MARKET

London, October 12.—(AP)—Rubber and rubber shares had a little flurry this morning and some excitement prevailed on the stock exchange, due to the report from Colombo, Ceylon, that the Stevenson restriction scheme was to be altered to allow increased exportation of the raw product.

Shares were rather freely offered, and prices declined all around, but contradiction of the report from the Colombo office later brought about a recovery.

The rubber market in Mining Lane was more affected and became depressed during the course of the day, spot rubber falling to three shillings ten pence (about 94 cents) from Saturday's four shillings, one penny (about $1) per pound. Future positions were equally weak.

WEEK'S GRAIN EXPORTS SHOW SHARP DECLINE

Washington, October 12.—Grain exports from the United States were 3,340,000 bushels, as compared with 4,200,000 the previous week.

Commerce department figures today gave the following comparisons between last week's exports and those of the week before:

Wheat, 1,757,000 bushels against 1,670,000; rye, 9,000 against 9,000; corn, 342,000 against 1,520,000; oats, 190,000 against 181,000; barley, 550,000 against 660,000.

Canadian grain exports through United States ports were 3,311,000 bushels against 2,746,000 the previous week, while wheat exports from North America were 210,000 barrels against 108,000 barrels.

Trainmen of Three States Will Meet October 23 to 24

Dixie Boosters of the Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee divisions of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen will meet in a two-day session at the Ansley hotel on October 23-24, local officials of the brotherhood announced here Monday.

Elaborate preparations are underway here and it is expected more than 1,000 brotherhood members and members of the Ladies' auxiliary will attend. The purpose of the session, leaders state, is to get before the public the work of these two organizations and to emphasize activities within the two bodies.

Headquarters will be maintained at the Ansley hotel where visitors will register. The opening will take place on the Ansley roof after a general get-together and informal getting earlier in the day. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the Ladies' auxiliary will hold its first meeting, and 9 o'clock Friday night opening ceremonies will take the form of a dance on the Ansley roof. Musical selections will be furnished by the Ansley Rainbow orchestra, refreshments will be served and dancing will continue until midnight.

In the afternoon the auxiliary will be addressed by Mrs. Mary Milton, third grand vice president, of Denison, Texas. H. T. Loehr is president of the local society of trainmen and is working with a big committee toward making the two days' meeting here one of the most successful in the history of the organizations of the three states.

Entertainment features include a sight-seeing trip over the city, a visit to Stone Mountain, addresses by Governor Walker, Mayor Sims and others, high state and city officials. R. E. King, grand secretary of Cleveland, W. N. Donk, grand first vice president, of Roanoke, Va., and W. V. Hamilton, grand tenth vice president, of Knoxville, Tenn., will be among prominent members of the brotherhood who will be heard in addresses during the convention.

IVAN ALLEN HEADS FUND COMMISSION

Ivan E. Allen was elected chairman of the Atlanta Advertising Fund committee Monday at its first meeting in the Chamber of Commerce building. Harry H. Johnson, vice president of the Atlanta & Lowry National Bank, was elected treasurer.

Appointment of subcommittees is being held up pending return to the city of Mr. Allen from Grand Rapids, Mich. Members of the commission present Monday were: W. R. C. Smith, Virlyn B. Moore, Milton W. Bell, Phillip H. Alston, A. J. Neely, John K. Outley, Frank Adair, Frank Neely and B. S. Barker, ex-officio. Other members are William Candler, Louie P. Marquardt and L. T. Y. Nash.

GEORGIA CITIZEN KILLED IN FLORIDA

Williston, Fla., October 12.—(AP)—Judson Grimes, of Ambrose, Ga., was instantly killed and his companion, Terry McGovern, also of Ambrose, was slightly injured near here late yesterday afternoon when the automobile in which they were riding turned turtle. A blow out of a front tire just before Grimes, who was driving, attempted to pass another automobile was the cause of the accident, investigators said.

WESLEY CLASS WINS ATTENDANCE TROPHY

All previous records at the Wesley Memorial Methodist Sunday school were broken Sunday when there were 754 per cent, although only 600 are enrolled, according to announcement Monday by the Georgia Sunday School association. The Alpha class of the church led all city classes with 214 present.

BOND BROTHERS, INC., LEASE BUILDING HERE

Bond Brothers, Inc., operators of a chain of men's and young men's clothing stores, have leased from John L. Moore & Sons the three-story and basement building located at 83-85 Peachtree street, between Auburn avenue and Luckie street for 10 years, according to announcement Monday by A. S. Adams, president of the A. S. Adams-Cates company, agents. The consideration was not made public.

Leases aggregating $250,000, which involve the location here of a number of leading commercial organizations, among which is the Bond Brothers, Inc., also was announced.

Bond Brothers, Inc., are expected to obtain possession about January 1, and officials of the organization are very enthusiastic concerning prospects for business in Atlanta and consider the city, by far the most metropolitan of any in the south, it is said.

DRINKWATER TO TAKE CISSIE LOFTUS' PLACE

John Drinkwater, eminent dramatist, poet and essayist, has been booked for the opening of the Atlanta Drama league season, following an announcement from the management for Cissie Loftus, at the date advertised. She will appear later.

Mrs. Edgar Neely, president of the Drama league, upon receiving the message that the noted mimic was ill and unable to use her voice and would have to defer her visit to Atlanta, telephoned her manager in Montreal, where the artist was playing when she became incapacitated and received from him the promise that Cissie Loftus would fill her engagement here later in the season.

In order that Drama league members and their friends would have the best the country could afford, Mrs. Neely said, for their opening number the board of managers secured John Drinkwater, to appear in one of his lectures, November 4, a short time following the date Cissie Loftus was booked for. Miss Loftus probably will appear for the local league in January.

Drinkwater Famous.

John Drinkwater, an international figure, is an English poet still in his thirties, who not only holds a foremost position among English dramatists and is recognized as the leader of the younger generation of English poets, but he has had the advantage of wide experience on the stage, a fact which adds a distinct charm to his lectures and readings. During his former American tour he impressed his audience by directness and beauty of his utterances and firmly established his reputation as a superb lecturer.

Mr. Drinkwater has chosen as the subject of some of his lectures: "The Nature of Drama," "Poetry and Life," "The Poet and Tradition," and "An English Dramatist's View of Lincoln." In recent years he has become widely known in this country through the production of his stirring plays, "Abraham Lincoln" and "Mary Stuart."

Cruelty To Wife And Child Is Laid To G. H. Frederick

G. H. Frederick, of 9 Love street, was bound over to state courts in $300 bond on charges of cruelty to his wife and child when he was arraigned Monday before Recorder A. W. Calloway, of police court.

Mrs. Frederick and Probation Officer J. H. Hollingsworth testified that Frederick came home Saturday night and cruelly whipped his three-year-old daughter, Katherine. The child was lashed with a strap and her back was badly cut, the officer said.

Mrs. Frederick charged that her husband had slapped her so hard that one of her eyes was partially closed Sunday. The defendant admitted striking his wife.

BONDS FORFEITED IN TWO NARCOTIC CASES BY SIBLEY

Bonds of two alleged violators of the Harrison anti-narcotic act were declared forfeited Monday by Judge Samuel H. Sibley, of the federal court of the northern district of Georgia, when the defendants failed to appear for trial. Bonds aggregated $3,100, and warrants for arrests of the men were issued.

Bill Kyser, charged with selling "drugs," whose bond had been set at $2,500, and Dr. B. E. Pearce, charged with violation of the law in two cases, and whose bond in each case was $300, are the men who failed to appear.

Seven cases of alleged violations of the national anti-narcotic laws are slated to be heard today. They are expected to consume practically the entire court session.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. SIMMONS TO BE HELD TODAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Caroline Simmons, 83, of 1188 DeKalb avenue, pioneer Atlanta woman, who died Sunday night at the residence, will be held at 1 o'clock this afternoon from the Friendship Baptist church in Gwinnett county. Interment will be in the churchyard, with Blanchard Brothers in charge.

Mrs. Simmons had been actively engaged in activities of the Epworth Methodist church here for 60 years. She also was a prominent worker in welfare work of the city.

She leaves four sons, W. D. Simmons, of High Point, N. C.; G. W. J. C. and W. C. Simmons, all of Atlanta, and three daughters, Mrs. T. E. Hill, of Windsor; Mrs. B. A. Nash, of Snellville, and Mrs. J. F. Garner, of Lake City, Fla.

CHILDREN'S HOME AUXILIARY MEETS AT RECEIVING HOME

The annual meeting of the auxiliary of the Georgia Children's home society will be held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the receiving home in Ormewood court, to which all members of the auxiliary and the general public are invited.

Annual reports of committees will be given at a business session. A report telling of the activity of the board will be given by Robert Harvey, president of the board; Mrs. A. L. Norris, president, will preside.

This is one of the two meetings of the year to which members of the auxiliary are invited, only members of the board and officers attending monthly meetings. Members of the board and Masonic club members will be special guests.

BACK OF A GOOD NAME

Rarely in manufacturing history has a name entrenched itself so firmly in the confidence of the entire world as the name Dodge Brothers.

Everywhere and to everyone this name means but one thing: a product built honestly of the best available materials and sold at a just price.

Behind this product, this price and this enviable reputation lie certain impressive and fundamental facts.

So important is a knowledge of these facts to the motor car buyer that Dodge Brothers, Inc., have determined to publish them, from time to time, until every newspaper reader in America may be presumed to have read them:

Dodge Brothers, during the past eleven years, have built and sold more than one million four hundred thousand motor cars—and more than 90% of these cars are still in service. This record requires no comment. It stands impressively alone in motor car history.

It has never been Dodge Brothers policy to build yearly models. When an improvement, that is really an improvement, is discovered, it is made at once. Their slogan, "Constantly Improved But No Yearly Models" is familiar the world over.

Dodge Brothers build one chassis and only one. This policy materially lowers manufacturing cost. It also enables Dodge Brothers engineers to concentrate their entire time and thought on the betterment of this one type.

Dodge Brothers have never had an "off year" or an "off car." This is because they have never used the public as a testing ground for "new models" or lowered the quality of their product in the slightest degree. Every change has been an improvement on the original design.

Dodge Brothers pioneered in building the first all-steel open car and the first all-steel closed car. These epochal developments have saved Dodge Brothers owners many millions of dollars by materially prolonging motor car life and by effecting marked economies in manufacture. This construction has also reduced incalculably the danger from accident and fire.

Dodge Brothers sell directly through their dealers to the purchaser. There are no sectional distributing agencies to increase the cost of distribution and the cost of the car.

Dodge Brothers have never given so-called "free service." The car is sold at a fair and honest price. Nothing is added to this original purchase price to pay for service that the owner may never need.

Dodge Brothers Dealers were pioneers in unanimously adopting the flat rate service system. By this system, the owner knows in advance what any service job will cost. There are no unpleasant surprises in his bills.

The sturdiness and long life of Dodge Brothers Motor Car is reflected in its resale value. Comparatively few Dodge Brothers Motor Cars are advertised in the resale columns of the newspapers. The values they bring testify unanswerably to their goodness—and the public's belief in their goodness.

The time has passed when transient novelties can lead a thoughtful buyer to overlook the great essentials of motor car worth. A few of these essentials, outlined above, go far to explain why Dodge Brothers name is accepted, the world over, as the hall mark of dollar-for-dollar value.

Admiral and Mrs. Bristol Honored at Social Affairs

Admiral Mark Bristol, American high commissioner in Turkey, and Mrs. Bristol are visiting Mr. and Mrs. John D. Little at their home in the Biltmore apartments. These distinguished visitors are being accorded a cordial welcome, and a series of social affairs are being planned in their honor.

Dinner At "Wingfield."

Ex-Governor and Mrs. John M. Slaton were hosts to Admiral and Mrs. Bristol at a lovely dinner at "Wingfield," their home on Peachtree road, on Monday evening.

The beautiful home was most artistically decorated with bright fall flowers. In the dining room, the table was overlaid with an exquisite linen cloth, and the lovely decoration for the center of the table was a "Capo di Monti" set with its graceful and artistic arrangement of dainty flowers, of vari-colored petunias, ageratum, tiny pink rosebuds, golden-rod and swainsons.

Covers were placed for the following guests: Admiral and Mrs. Bristol, Mr. and Mrs. Little, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Adger Smythe, Mrs. O'Neal, of Charleston, S. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. McBurney, Dr. and Mrs. Phinizy Calhoun, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Grant, Thomas Glenn and Mr. and Mrs. Slaton.

Mrs. Slaton received her guests wearing a handsome model of cloth of gold.

Distinguished Guests.

Since arriving in America several weeks ago, after a residence of six and a half years spent abroad, Admiral and Mrs. Bristol have been entertained by the highest dignitaries in Washington, D. C., where they were stationed before going abroad, and were feted guests at many entertainments. They were guests in the national capital of Commander and Mrs. Kincaid at the navy yard, Commander Kincaid having served under the high commissioner in Constantinople. Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Wilbur gave a dinner in their honor, as did Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lansing, and Joseph Greer, undersecretary of state, honored Admiral Bristol with a stag dinner at his home on Moreland drive with Secretary Kellogg among the guests. Commander and Mrs. Robert Henderson entertained for them, and their stay in Washington was filled with important functions given by other prominent residents. Mrs. Bristol was regarded as a good angel by the hordes of Russian refugees in Constantinople for the distribution of large sums of money and quantities of clothing and food sent from America, which was under her personal supervision.

Mrs. Calhoun's Luncheon.
Mrs. Phinizy Calhoun's luncheon to dinner at her home on Andrews drive will complement Mrs. Bristol, and Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Albert Howell, Jr., will entertain at dinner for Admiral and Mrs. Bristol at their home on Waterworks road.

Miss Louise Newton Is Honor Guest.

Miss Louise Newton, a bride-elect of Wednesday, whose marriage to Thomas Wilkes McDaniel will take place at the North Avenue Presbyterian church at 4 o'clock, was honor guest at the bridge-tee at which Mrs. Elizabeth Richardson was hostess at the East Lake country club.

The tea table was overlaid with a real lace cover and held as its center decoration a silver set filled with brightly-colored fall flowers. At intervals were placed orange burning tapers.

The guests included members of the hostess and out-of-town guests for the wedding.

Miss Elizabeth Richardson Is Hostess at Bridge-Tea.

Miss Elizabeth Richardson was hostess at a bridge-tee Monday at 3 o'clock at the Piedmont Driving club, in honor of Miss Eloise Lewis, whose marriage to Dr. George Eubanks, Jr., will be an event of Wednesday. The lovely hostess was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. W. E. Richardson.

Mrs. Colquitt Howard was hostess at a bridge-luncheon Monday morning at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Eubanks, in Druid Hills, in compliment to Miss Lewis.

Following the game luncheon was served at the small tables, and Mrs. Howard was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. George C. Howard, Jr., and Mrs. W. M. Lewis.

Miss Helen Bowen Is Honor Guest.

Miss Helen Bowen, a bride-elect of October, was honor guest at the bridge-luncheon given Monday by Mrs. James Branch at the Druid Hills Golf club.

Following luncheon bridge was enjoyed and a prize of monogram cards was awarded to the winner of the score. For consolation a box of French handkerchiefs was given, and Miss Bowen was presented with a bride's book.

Mrs. Branch was assisted in entertaining by her daughter, Miss Evelyn Branch, and by Miss Bowen's sister, Mrs. Walter Blackwell, of Springfield, Connecticut.

Birthday Dinner Honors Mrs. Dollar.

A most delightful affair was the surprise birthday dinner party given Mrs. Hulda Dollar, of Conley, on Sunday, October 11 in celebration of her 85th birthday.

Mrs. Dollar is known and loved far and wide by a large circle of relatives and friends, who assembled on her birthday, bringing many gifts as an expression of their affection and esteem.

She has lived a life of usefulness and service endeavoring herself to all her associates. Sixty-five guests were present at dinner.

Will Irwin To Speak At Woman's Club.

Atlantans who are interested in keeping abreast of world events will be given an unusual opportunity to hear one of the foremost observers of the day when Will Irwin speaks in Atlanta on October 19 on "The Whirlpool" at the Atlanta Woman's club. While the address is being given under the auspices of the Atlanta Women's club, the public is cordially invited to attend this lecture, as well as the entire series of lectures which the club is sponsoring this season, including Edward Wiggam, Dr. Frank Crane, Dr. Carl Van Doren, Roy Chapman and Lathrop Stoddard.

Will Irwin is regarded as one of the greatest authorities of the day on world events, and is a recognized power both with the press and on the platform. He always relates his observations with a sincerity of purpose that has placed him at the head of the list for conscientious effort in reporting his findings in connection with the cross-play of world politics.

Tickets for this lecture may be had by calling at the office of Russell Bridges, 1221 Wynne-Claughton building, and also through the Atlanta Woman's club.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

ON DECEMBER 20, 1606, THE LONDON COMPANY SENT OUT A BAND OF 120 SETTLERS IN THREE SHIPS TO FOUND A COLONY IN VIRGINIA. THE LITTLE FLEET WAS UNDER THE COMMAND OF CAPTAIN CHRISTOPHER NEWPORT.

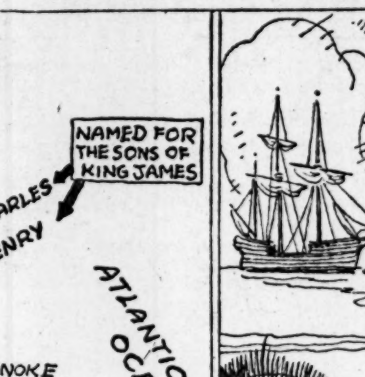

THE NEW COLONY WAS TO BE GOVERNED BY A COUNCIL OF SEVEN AND DURING THE VOYAGE THERE WERE MANY DISPUTES OVER THE PLACES OF HONOR. THE LEADERS IN THESE ARGUMENTS WERE WINFIELD, A MAN OF HIGH BIRTH, AND CAPTAIN JOHN SMITH, A VETERAN OF MANY WARS.

WHEN SMITH WON OVER SOME OF THE COLONISTS TO HIS SIDE WINFIELD ACCUSED HIM OF PLOTTING A MUTINY AND AS A RESULT SMITH SPENT THE REST OF THE VOYAGE IN IRONS.

REACHING AMERICA THE COLONISTS INTENDED TO STOP AT ROANOKE ISLAND, THE SITE OF RALEIGH'S ILL-FATED SETTLEMENT BUT A STORM DROVE THEM INTO THE CHESAPEAKE BAY. SAILING ON THEY ENTERED A BROAD RIVER THAT THEY CALLED THE JAMES IN HONOR OF THE KING.

SOME DISTANCE UP THE JAMES RIVER THEY CAME TO A LOW NECK OF LAND WHERE IT WAS DECIDED TO BUILD A TOWN. HERE THEY LANDED ON MAY 13, 1607. TOMORROW—EARLY LIFE AT JAMESTOWN.

Florence Easton Gives Interview On Opera Sung in English

Florence Easton, one of the greatest of living sopranos will be heard in concert Tuesday evening at the auditorium-annex, sponsored by the Atlanta Fine Arts club. The concert is open to the public, and the tickets are on sale at Phillips & Crew's at popular prices.

In a recent interview in Musical America, Miss Easton says "local companies would solve America's operatic problems. Opera companies in the larger cities throughout the country run on a similar plan to the dramatic stock companies which many of these cities are already supporting," such is Florence Easton's recipe for America's operatic regeneration.

"If Americans really want opera," the noted soprano of the Metropolitan demands, "why do they not give their own talent a chance? The success of several of the traveling opera companies, charging four and five dollars for the best seats at their performances—a very large sum for average persons to pay—is sufficient demonstration of the pecuniary as well as artistic soundness of the suggestion of opera-giving outside of New York. No traveling company can ever fill the important place, both pecuniarily and artistically, which awaits the fruit of local enterprises. Personally, I can see no reason either why Americans outside of New York should be dependent on organizations of foreign artists of varying but generally very little worth for productions in foreign tongues, or why the Metropolitan should be expected to receive all such of our singers as show a glimmer of operatic talent. If 100 or 150 men of financial and social standing in a city were to guarantee $1,000 each for one year towards the support of a local opera company, the enterprise would be sure of long enough life to prove its merits. And these gentlemen would doubtless be glad to continue their benefactions when they saw how eagerly they were received.

Charge Should Not Exceed $1. "The charge for the best seats in the house should not exceed $1. It is a typical American attitude to refuse anything less than the very best, and best seats would at this price be within everybody's reach for at least one occasion. Of course the assumption is that having gone once, a person would go again, such would be the merit of the performances or at least their own interest, since almost everybody in the city would have some personal interest in the work of the company. For a start, good standard opera like 'Faust,' 'Carmen' and 'Bohème,' should provide the bill. 'Lohengrin' is another generally familiar and favorite work. But the great point is not so much the opera performed as its being sung in English. This I consider absolutely essential. Of course the English translations of most opera books are laughably bad. But I rather have an audience get some coherent idea, even if it is naive, than to go away empty from a performance, as an audience American and the opera being in a foreign language.

Program Announced For LaGrange Club Alumnae Banquet

The LaGrange college alumnae will entertain at an elaborate banquet Friday evening, October 16, at 7 o'clock, and the invitation committee is meeting with a splendid response in answer to the invitation issued.

Mrs. Luke Johnson, an alumna of the college, will be the principal speaker of the evening. Mrs. Johnson is an outstanding figure in educational and religious work. She is chairman of the woman's board of missions of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, W. E. Thompson, president of LaGrange college; Hutton Loveloy, president of the board of trustees; Judge John S. Candler, chairman of the board of education of the North Georgia conference, will make short talks. Several other friends of the college have been asked to make addresses. A full program will be published later. The Biltmore orchestra has been engaged and will give lovely selections during the banquet.

Mrs. James E. Ridley, president of the State Alumnae association, will introduce the speakers.

Others desiring reservations are requested at an early date. Tickets are $1.00. Write James E. Ridley, 112 Linwood avenue, Hemblock 1376, or Miss Evelyn Whitaker, 59 Fairview road, DEARBORN 2013-S.

of the prevailing badness of English diction, that signifies nothing. I would be willing to undertake to make anybody's singing English as clear as my own. My diction is superior to most singers' only in so far as I have taken its study more seriously.

"Lack of seriousness in the study of English diction is but one of the respects in which American singers place obstacles in their own paths. If American cities—and by this I mean not their government but some of their individual public-spirited citizens—ever do start such an enterprise of local opera as I have outlined, American singers will have to see to it that they measure up to their opportunity. This they cannot do by following social, but by social, and program which seems to preoccupy most of them at present. If they were really carried out without the employment of artists from outside, such a scheme of local opera would automatically put an end to the star mania, of which the pitiless publicity practiced by many of our singers, especially the younger ones, is doubtless one aspect.

"In my own case, it was only by concentrating every power he had on my studies that my father was able to let me follow them at all. To this moment I have not learned how to get friends and sports into my full days. When laymen notice that an operatic artist sings but once or twice a week, they are apt to think that they are very easy time of it. They do not know of the nights when we have to stay at home, nursing our throats as carefully as for a scheduled performance, on the chance that the announced artist of the evening may fall ill and we be summoned as substitute. This obligation is perhaps particularly heavy in my own case, for I have a very catholic repertoire; I sing almost every sort of soprano part, but the most pronounced coloratura."

Miss Mitchell To Be Honored At Party

Miss Louise Moore will be hostess at a bridge-ten on Friday afternoon at 3:30 at the Piedmont Driving club. The honor guest on this occasion will be Miss Betty Mitchell who with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mitchell, will leave the middle of the month to spend the winter abroad.

Mrs. J. W. McCullough Honors Miss Hamrick

Mrs. J. W. McCullough entertained at a kitchen shower Saturday afternoon at her home on North Boulevard, honoring Miss Stella Hamrick, a bride-elect of November. Interesting contests were enjoyed, followed by a treasure hunt at the conclusion of which the honor guest found the gifts of those invited.

The guests included 25 friends of the hostess.

LaGrange College Club To Meet Today

There will be a called meeting of the LaGrange College club Tuesday afternoon, October 13, at 3:30 o'clock at the Piedmont hotel. Reports are requested for the ticket committee and those phoning in connection with the banquet. Reservations must also be made at this time for the LaGrange college banquet to be held October 16 at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel.

"Mother's Friend" is wonderful

"I used Mother's Friend before my nine pound boy arrived and can say it is wonderful. I was not sick one half as long as when my first baby was born. In fact this one arrived before the Doctor did. I think Mother's Friend is a friend indeed to Expectant Mothers and I am glad to recommend it." (Signed) Mrs. Zedie Gibson, Akron, Ohio.

Uncle Ray's Corner The Capture of Osiris

Yesterday we saw how the Egyptians believed that the sun-god, Ra, had been the first of the gods. In spite of that, there were many persons who came to think of another god, Osiris, as the greatest of all. Osiris, "twain said, was the son of the heaven goddess and the earth god. One day a man named Panyles was going to a temple to obtain water. A voice sounded in the air: "Panyles, go forth and proclaim to the world that a king has been born. He is Osiris and will bring blessings to all who follow him."

The man did as he was told, and into his care was given the infant Osiris. Years passed, and Osiris remained under the care of his guard.

good to eat, and how to raise crops. He showed them where the precious metals lay, and explained the manner of making weapons.

Osiris was married to the goddess Isis, and they were happy in their union. Much of the time Isis ruled Egypt while Osiris went about the country teaching. In his work he was helped by the god Thot, who taught people how to write.

Unfortunately, Osiris had an evil brother named Set. For some reason, perhaps because of jealousy, Set wished to kill Osiris. Cunning god that he was, Set planned to capture the king by means of a trick. He sent agents to take the measure of the king in secret. Then he caused a king to be made to the exact size of the measure.

Set invited Osiris to come to a feast, and the god-king accepted. The guests admired the chest which was covered with rich carvings.

"I will give the chest," said Set, "to any one who lies down inside and finds that it is the right size."

Many of the guests tried, but each one was too long or too short, or too fat or too thin. At last Osiris stepped in and lay at full length. Set and his helpers quickly shut the lid and clamped it down. The chest was carried to the Nile and washed out to sea with the current.

MADE A NEW WOMAN OF HER

That is What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did for Mrs. Jenkins

Middleport, Ohio. — "I am going through the Change of Life and I am taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for the troubles that come at that time. I got so run-down I could scarcely do my work and I keep a roominghouse and have a family of eight to take care of. A friend told me about the Vegetable Compound and it has made a new woman of me. I keep it in the house all the time now and won't be without it. My weight got down to 50 pounds and now it is 132 1/2 pounds. I give the Vegetable Compound the praise and hope that women will realize the good in it." — Mrs. MYRA JENKINS, 593 North Front Street, Middleport, Ohio.

Over 200,000 women have so far replied to this question, "Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

98 out of every 100 of the replies say "Yes," and because the Vegetable Compound has been helping other women it should help you. For sale by druggists everywhere.

FORMER PORTUGUESE QUEEN GRAVELY ILL

Paris, October 12.—(AP)—Former queen Amelie, of Portugal, is seriously ill at her Versailles residence. Her family physician, who is in Lisbon, has been summoned to her bedside.

The former Queen Amelie is the widow of King Carlos, who was assassinated at Lisbon in 1908. Her son, the crown prince, was killed at the same time. When Manuel, who succeeded to the throne, was forced to flee from Portugal two years later, Queen Amelie accompanied him. She has been living in England and France since then.

AUGUSTA REAL ESTATE SHOWS MUCH ACTIVITY

Augusta, Ga., October 12.—(AP)—Announcement that a new hotel will be erected in Augusta early next year and the purchase of land here by outside capitalists has resulted in a remarkable increase in land values in and around the city of Augusta.

Sixteen acres of land on the Washington road, less than a mile beyond the Berkman property, on the right side of the road leaving the city, have just been sold for an amount between $11,000 and $12,000 or three times the last purchase price.

STEAM HEAT READY FOR LOCAL PLANTS

For convenience of night workers in Atlanta's industrial plants, newspaper offices, postoffice and business houses, steam heat was turned into the pipes Monday and now is available to all consumers, according to announcement by the Georgia Railway and Power company.

Heat is not usually turned on until later in the year but the early cold weather has caused it to be turned into the pipes unusually early even though it may not be needed for some time by consumers who require heat only in the day time.

JOANNA

BY H. L. GATES

INSTALLMENT II.

Really, she must be stupid, that secretary of the Old Man's, and with her opportunities! Still—something about her fascinated Joanna. Miss 27 caught herself rubbing at her lips and wondering if she'd marked them too red that morning.

New doubts, new spectres took their place in the parade that marched heavily across the shop girl's brain. The creditors, those inexpressible little people who fatten on the meagerness of the shop girl's purse with exorbitant prices for flimsy things dug in their prongs and faded away. They were now of the yesterday. For the first time—the first time that she could remember, Joanna, waiting to be dismissed for some unknown offense against some unknown customer, thought of tomorrow as it loomed within her own outlook. Dismissed from one store, the others would be, for a time, barred to her. And she had struggled long to attain the opulence of salesgirl of the higher grades. Had she been more accessible morally she would have been more prosperous.

But Joanna stopped short of a great many things; a stopping short too many people, classing her as one of a genus—the ultra modern genus—would not have credited her with.

She counted frantically and estimated for herself one week of idleness without being in trouble. Of course, if the worst came to the worst, she could pawn the fur wrap. Cohen wouldn't know.

But Joanna didn't want to pawn that coat. At any of the dancing places to which the boys took her it would be missed immediately. Other girls are observant of such things and, really, a fur wrap is a necessary mark of caste, nowadays. None of the boys would be coming around for her if she showed up any place with her old and unfurred coat. None, that is, except John.

John! She'd quarreled with him only last night—again! She'd told him he was entirely too muggy to keep up the pace with her. Somehow, the thought of John, with whom a quarrel was never worth a second thought since none lasted from one evening to the next, comforted her. She looked, suddenly, at the Old Man's quiet, unimpressive secretary. She smiled a little, inwardly, with the thought that she, the secretary, would be about the sort of girl John pretended to want her to be!

Fancy the glorious Joanna with the shimmering gold brown hair and the flash of scarlet across a field of velvety pinks, like that! She almost laughed when the other girl in response to the purr of a buzzer, nodded at her and said:

"That's Mr. Graydon. He'll see you now. Won't you go in?"

The vision of John, and the silly spectacle of herself trying to be like the quiet, softly self-effacing secretary just to please him, had cleared Joanna's brain of the imminence of tragedy. Her head was up and so was her heart when she went through the door and stood in "the presence."

She expected to face the living image of sinister cartoons she'd seen. When she realized that the elderly, rather portly gray haired man who stood behind a great mahogany table to receive her, was "The Old Man," and that he was actually smiling across to her, she wrinkled her brow. Then a great light came into her mind.

So, that was it! She might have known! She was alert, shrewd, cunning, all at once. She braced herself for the fencing. The fur wrap could go hang. There'd be no difference between the owner, who could summon her, and "Mr. Good Morning" who had come to her counter with his fawning.

"Did you send for me? I'm from the silks—Number 27!" Her very tone was a challenge.

The Old Man pointed to a chair. "Won't you sit down?" he asked, pleasantly. "Twenty-seven stands for Joanna, doesn't it?"

She answered shortly: "Joanna Manners." She wondered how long it would take him to show his hand. Her resentment grew more bitter each minute. More and more she was convinced that there was only one, and a commonplace motive, for the genial reception of a salesgirl, and a pretty one such as she knew she was, by the wealthy powerful owner of the store.

The man across the table settled himself in his chair and faced her. A curious expression played about his gray eyes.

"Ah, yes," he murmured: "Joanna Manners—I understood that was the name. Would you mind, Joanna, telling me where—and how—you live?"

Joanna narrowed her lids. "I live alone, and not in a palace, either. And the rest of it is, I'm satisfied."

Her employer seemed not to notice the irritation. "Then you don't live at home? Not with your family?"

"I haven't any family," she answered him, still biting her words. As an afterthought she added: "but I can take care of myself as well as a family could, and I do."

The elderly man smiled at this. He began to recognize the symptoms.

"I am sure of that, my dear!" he said, softly. "So let's speak of your friends. What kind—I mean, have you many?"

She had caught that "what kind." She stiffened in her chair and looked him full in the face. She was embittered anew by that curious expression under his gray eyebrows.

"I haven't any friends, particularly, besides a bunch of boys who are as light in the head as they are on their feet, but if I want any more I'll pick them out for myself."

Graydon darted a quick look at her. He was silent for a minute, toying with a jade paper weight. When he spoke he had resolved, evidently, to shorten his approach to whatever it was he had to say to the salesgirl from the silk counter who was not disposed to be humble in his presence.

"I must say that you impress me," he said, as if voicing a profound conclusion, as one who would not hesitate to dismiss friends, if they were not invited. Again he was silent. Joanna fancied that he was preparing a new method of attack. She built new fortifications around her scruples, and waited, craftily.

Graydon was still patient. "You have read, I suppose," he said quite slowly, as if he wanted her mind to follow him, "of Cinderella and the Prince who put her foot into the golden slipper?"

"Yes," Joanna replied: "I've read about it—lots. But I'm off the prince stuff, and I put on my own slippers, thank you."

Then the Old Man laughed. Laughed as some of his executives didn't know he could laugh. He dropped the jade paperweight and rose. Joanna rose with him, but he turned to a window and looked out into the skyscraper maze that opened, here and there, to release a glimpse of an ocean liner ploughing its way down the sapphire river toward The Narrows and the sea. When he turned back into the room Joanna stood by her chair, watching him steadily. He went almost up to her, so close that he had to look down at her, and she had to tilt her face to look up at him. When he spoke again there was a new note in his voice.

"We mustn't fence, Joanna," he said. "I didn't send for you with any idle pretense. I am to have the pleasure of delivering to you a message—a rather interesting message, I assure you. Something has happened to you—or for you, that so far as I know, has never happened to any girl—at least so unexpectedly. First, I am to hand you this."

The senses of impending climax suddenly numbed Joanna's brain. The manner of Graydon had become more portentous. She started, fascinated, while he turned to his great desk.

When he stood over her again she took into her hands, wonderingly, a small, thin book which he silently held out to her. She looked up at him. He closed her fingers about the book and then lifted its cover for her. A folded letter dropped to the floor. Graydon recovered it and opening it, gave it to her, motioning her to read it.

She saw her name, with the store given as her address.

When she had read the first typed paragraph Joanna—Joanna with the shimmering gold brown hair, clutched frantically as if with her hands to catch her wandering wits. One hand fluttered then, to her throat. She swayed. Graydon caught her by the shoulders and guided her as she dropped into her chair.

PRACTICAL FOOTBALL

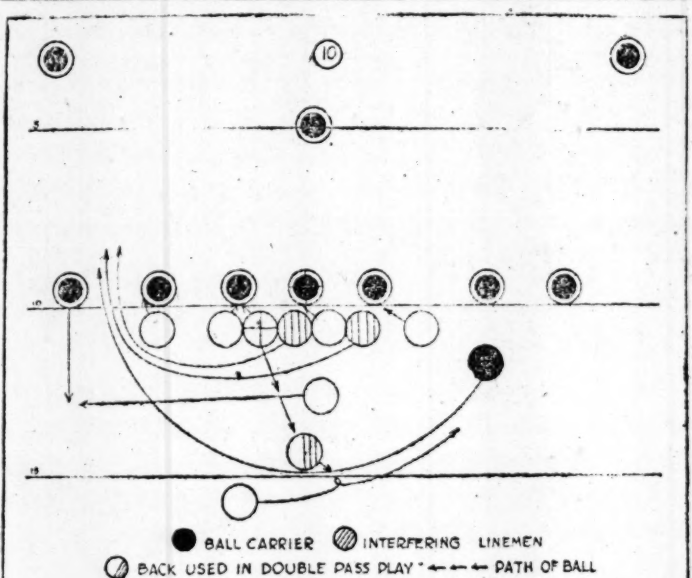

The Eighteen Best Plays

Selected for Use by High School and College Teams

BY ROBERT C. ZUPPKE

NO. 10. DOUBLE PASS WEAK SIDE RUN.

The initial movement and fake to the right by the tailback and fullback obscures the final character of this play until it is full under way. In 1920 the Illinois team was drilled in this play to be used against a certain team. The quarterback used it once. The play gained seven yards. Then the quarterback forgot it. But the play is worthy of liberal use.

● BALL CARRIER ● INTERFERING LINEMEN
○ BACK USED IN DOUBLE PASS PLAY ○ PATH OF BALL

defensive players who are not lined up in front of the men they intend to attack. For example, the offensive man may sidestep the opponent's guard in the offensive tackle is sidestepping the opponent's tackle out.

Blocking Secondary Defense.

The linemen's duties are not fulfilled when they block out the opposing linemen, but they must rush to the second defense and attempt to block the backs. The most effective block in the open or broken field is the rolling block. The blocker should run as closely to his intended victim as possible and then attempt to throw his body across his opponent's thighs. The blocker should try to keep his eyes on the feet of his opponent so he can guide himself as to his next move by the action of the opponent's feet and their position.

The blocker should leap rather high in the direction and approximate height of his opponent's stomach, so in case of misjudgment, contact with some part of the opponent's body will be certain.

A high approach hampers possible hours to show. It is divided into two parts, ancient and modern.

A cast of 5,000 people is headed by Roy La Roque, Richard Dix, Leatrice Joy, Agnes Ayres, Nina Saldy, Theodore Roberts, Estelle Taylor, James Neil, Edythe Chapman, Robert Edison and Charles de Roche.

LOEW'S OFFERING FOR THIS WEEK PROVES POPULAR

The Bison City quartet, composed of four singers and comedians scored one of the outstanding hits on the new bill of vaudeville at Loew's Grand which opened Monday and shared honors with Bobby Randall, the headliner. The quartet is one of the best heard here this season and the singers choose some pleasing and popular songs.

Dainty little Dorothy Berger, "The Nell Brinkley girl," possesses a sweet voice and a winning personality. She sings a repertoire of pretty songs. Her pianist also sings with her in some of the numbers.

Frank Le Dent and his partner showed something new in juggling. Everything about the act is novel and skillful and dexterous work of the juggler as well as his impersonations were received with enthusiasm.

Bobby Randall first appears in a single turn and tells several stories, sings a bit and engages in various comedies. He then participates in the "Fairy Pageant," the last number on the bill. In this turn some pretty harmony singing by the three Wainwright sisters. A dance by Miss Big Bethel church choir, and special orchestration by Whitney Hubner's Rialto orchestra and organ. It is great, stupendous, colorful and moving. It has comedy, spectacle and drama. A perfect cast, a fine story and inspired direction. What else could one ask for?

The production takes little over two hours to show. It is divided into two parts, ancient and modern.

A cast of 5,000 people is headed by Roy La Roque, Richard Dix, Leatrice Joy, Agnes Ayres, Nina Saldy, Theodore Roberts, Estelle Taylor, James Neil, Edythe Chapman, Robert Edison and Charles de Roche.

Aldridge Again Bests Coveleskie; Pittsburgh Gets Thirteen Hits Off Veteran

dent Coolidge, did not stay to see the whirlwind finish of the Pirates, but even when called away by a diplomatic engagement in the third inning he had seen enough to convince him that it was Pittsburgh's day.

For it was the third inning that first saw the onslaught in full swing, producing two runs that put the Pirates in the lead after Washington had gotten away to a one-run advantage in the first inning.

From that point on, it was only a question of how long the Pirates could be kept in check. There was a revival of Washington hopes in the fourth when Joe Harris, slamming out his third home run of the series into the left-field stands, tied the score, but the National leaguers broke through in the seventh and were never headed after that.

Through the last three innings the Pirates turned a close battle into a rout with an attack which found weakness in the lead finally breaking down all barriers.

Cuyler, Barnhart and Wright—three men whose hitting prowess loomed large in the season's pennant triumph—found the range with consistent abandon for the first time in the series.

Moore, Traynor, Carey and McInnis—taking Grantham's place at first base and playing regularly for the first time in the sixth world's series, also figured in various stages of the scoring fray. In fact, every member of the Pirate crew except Aldridge contributed at least one safe blow toward the total of 13 gathered off the quartet of Washington twirlers.

Aldridge's bat was not needed, and the big right-hander carried his full share of the laurels in the steady confidence and skillfulness with which he checked most of the threats of his formidable foes.

MISS CZAR MOKO STEPS MILE IN 2:02 1-2 ON CIRCUIT

Greyworthy, Braden Ruler Show Good Time; Feature Races Billed for Today

BY GEORGE CONGDON.

Miss Czar Moko, as classy a little mare as ever stepped the Lakewood oval, with the possible exception of Walter Candler's spectacular Lulla Forbes, was driven to feature time by W. T. Crozier Monday afternoon in the first day's Grand Circuit racing program of the Southeastern fair.

Miss Czar Moko came back to take "Go" from the starter today in the 2:00 pace with a field that includes cream of the Grand Circuit field. She will be worth watching, if Crozier elects to take her over the hard, red clay in the manner that he teased her yesterday.

Crozier let out his little sensation, a winner at the Syracuse and Nocturnal meetings, in the second heat of 2:12 class pacing event, with a $1,000 purse. She won that heat by feet from the speedy Norman Grattan, driven by Sep Palin, and then came back in the third heat in front of Norman Grattan, but didn't have to flash her shoes in the same speed.

Steps Mile in 2:02 1-2.

All heats going one mile and an eighth to prevent marking the time on the second heat of the 2:12 pace, was 2:18 1-4, but the little bay mare was timed for the mile to the finish in 2:02 1-2, the same time Lulla Forbes made last season at Lexington to come to more than passing notice.

Norman Grattan beat out Miss Czar Moko in the first heat, but the heat was closely contested all the way. Georgia M., driven by Stout, was third.

The other three circuit events were won in straight heats, with four entries in two and only two entries in the third. Of the three, Tippi Frisco's race against Walter Cox Greyworthy in the 2:09 class trot, with a $1,000 purse, was the best. Greyworthy led all the way in the first heat, but Tippi Frisco took the lead at the quarter post in the second heat and held it until the last eighth, when Cox urged Greyworthy into a final burst of speed that won in 2:25 1-4 with Tippi Frisco pressed until he broke just a few yards short of the wire. Greyworthy was the first in 2:27 3-4.

Crozier's Braden Ruler stepped easily in the special $1,000 pace to win in straight heats. Palin's Peter Mann raced a pretty mile and an eighth in the first two heats for second money, but was nose to third money on the third heat by an unexpected burst of speed from Murphy's Grace Moko, driven by John

AL MICHELSON WINS MARATHON

Port Chester, N. Y., October 12.—(AP)—Al Michelson, running under the colors of the Cynnet Athletic club, East Port Chester, N. Y., today won the Port Chester marathon race under the auspices of the Port Chester chamber of commerce and held in connection with the silver jubilee of the Knights of Columbus.

Still appearing fresh and running with long easy strides Michelson breasted the tape 2 hours, 27 minutes and 14 1-2 seconds after the start.

For a brief list consider this one. Atlanta and Shreveport played nine innings in 44 minutes and let it go at that. Not lately, however. It happened 15 years ago.

Berlenbach Beats Solomon In Heavyweight Battle

New York, October 12.—(AP)—Giving away 19 pounds to a game and courageous foe, Paul Berlenbach, world's light heavyweight champion, this afternoon made an auspicious start in his attempt to qualify for a fight with Jack Dempsey. Berlenbach scored a technical knockout over King Solomon, of Panama, in the ninth round of a 10-round match at the New York National League Baseball park.

Weighting only 172 pounds against 191 for the Central American heavyweight, Berlenbach battered Solomon into submission after chasing him around the ring with a blinding glare of blows to the body and head. The light heavyweight champion was credited with winning every round. Solomon kept his feet with difficulty until the eighth, when he was floored three times. After 31 seconds of the ninth round, Referee Jack O'Sullivan stepped between them and sent Solomon to his corner, ending the fight.

Solomon's defeat was the second surprise of the day, for a crowd of about 6,000 previously had seen Babe Herman, of California, outstanding featherweight challenger, held to a draw with Jimmy Smith, of New York, comparatively an unknown.

Celmers entered the ring for his match with Herman on only a few hours' notice as a substitute for the retired featherweight champion, Johnny Dundee, who failed to appear for the weighing-in at the offices of the New York boxing commission.

Celmers appeared to be slightly overweight, but soon proved that he would make trouble for the Californian by flooring the latter with a terrific left hook drawn after the opening of the first round.

During the next three rounds Celmers nonplussed the man who only recently held the championship, Louis (Kid) Kaplan, of Meriden, Conn., to a draw. Displaying nimble footwork, he made Herman miss with both hands, and it was not until the fifth round that the latter finally found the range.

Herman rallied in the latter rounds and brought the fight to even terms by terrific right-handers to the chin which found Celmers always willing to mix. The draw verdict of the judges was received with disapproval.

In the third affray, a pair of fleet-footed lightweights, Jack Bernstein, of Yonkers, and Ted Terris, of New York, met for their second time. Terris won the judges' decision.

Johnny Thomas, the elder, drew an added starter in the 3-year-old pace, Grace Moko, for Tommy Murphy. The latter was injured in a spill at Lexington, in the Wm. Hall, and watched proceedings from the times' stand. He will get in the sulky Tuesday, however.

Young John Thomas drove Bootsie, one of Walter Candler's pacing mares. She was just out of the cars from Chattanooga, where she won Saturday and was not quite ready for racing.

Delayed transfers of cars prevented arrival of many horses, and the race was postponed until Tuesday. A full array of something like 50 horses is on hand for the balance of the week and fields will be larger.

Starter H. C. Beatty, of Carrollton, Ill., who is starting his fourth week of officiating, handled the fields in fine style Monday. He has been in the stand in the middle west and appears to be a highly satisfactory official.

Lynette, the mare that I. P. Russell, of Stevenson, Ala., has been campaigning around the half-mile tracks this summer, won literally as she pleased in the 2:15 pace. The daughter of Napoleon three let the others set the pace and won each time with plenty to spare in the stretch drive.

Trotting Notes

Alternately drenched by rains and blown by snow-bearing winds, grand circuit horsemen who shipped from Lexington to Atlanta, enjoyed the ideal racing weather that prevailed Monday. The Lexington trots were all but broken up by the most severe weather conditions ever encountered there.

The three heats paced by Miss Czar Moko and Norman Grattan alone made the first day's racing a huge success. No better contests have been seen on the grand circuit this summer. These two friendly rivals have never been raced this season at the flat mile distance in order to keep their winrace record as high as possible. They are being pointed for the big stake events next year.

Sep Palin, the Indianapolis horseman, won first and second money in the special 3-year-old pace with his own brand of racing. Ruler and Mann. It was Crozier who accepted the reins behind the gray gelding and piloted him to first money. The gray was in good luck, though for the stakes next year.

Johnny Thomas, the elder, drew an added starter in the 3-year-old pace, Grace Moko, for Tommy Murphy. The latter was injured in a spill at Lexington, in the Wm. Hall, and watched proceedings from the times' stand. He will get in the sulky Tuesday, however.

Young John Thomas drove Bootsie, one of Walter Candler's pacing mares. She was just out of the cars from Chattanooga, where she won Saturday and was not quite ready for racing.

Delayed transfers of cars prevented arrival of many horses, and the race was postponed until Tuesday. A full array of something like 50 horses is on hand for the balance of the week and fields will be larger.

Starter H. C. Beatty, of Carrollton, Ill., who is starting his fourth week of officiating, handled the fields in fine style Monday. He has been in the stand in the middle west and appears to be a highly satisfactory official.

Lynette, the mare that I. P. Russell, of Stevenson, Ala., has been campaigning around the half-mile tracks this summer, won literally as she pleased in the 2:15 pace. The daughter of Napoleon three let the others set the pace and won each time with plenty to spare in the stretch drive.

Sidelights on Series

Joe Harris is the hitting fool of the series. Nothing stops him, fast balls, hooks, knuckle balls, all go flying back to the fences from Joe's bat. The Pirates camp against the fences, but fences were made for Joe to hit home runs over. He collected his third circuit smash for the series Monday.

Coveleskie was not the pitcher Monday that he was in the second contest. He seemed a worn and tired man out there on the hurling hill with his
